

From: Zeroth mark p sullivan
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/29/02 12:40am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Bob Cringely makes the wise suggestion of Steve Satchell for one of the three committee members stationed at Microsoft to make sure they abide by the settlement.

Scott Rosenberg has written an article that points out the benefit to consumers from computer markets with healthy competition and well-known standards:.

<http://www.salon.com/tech/col/rose/2002/01/16/competition/>

Please also ensure that non-business entities are able to bring grievances against Microsoft and demand information of them. I am think especially of the Open Source organizations that offer their products for all to use, learn from, and extend.

[illegible]

0 how to keep microsoft honest? . . . Zeroth mark p sullivan O

O <http://attila.stevens-tech.edu/~msulliva/> To a wonderful universe 0

0 msulliva@stevens-tech.edu I am proud of my universe O

[illegible]